Education

Illiteracy is the worst worm engulfing a vast area of our country and extracting blood from the veins making a person crippled. They are handicapped because of meager resources and cannot afford to send their children to schools and provide them better education with books and stationery. These children also do menial jobs to augment the family resources. The Government has enacted laws to culminate child labour and provide education within the reach of these people. Unfortunately, laws and rules have no significance for these people who are themselves illiterate and do hard labour throughout the day, leaving no time to look after the family affairs. Therefore we have undertaken and initiated a programme to teach these less fortunate children..

SHIVKRUPA BAHUUDDESHIYA SANSTHA had undertaken and initiated a programme to teach children of these colonies. It had established 2 learning centre Wani Yavatmal, Maharashtra. There were over 140 children in these centres. They were imparted education by qualified and experienced trained teachers through LBF methodology. They were taught Hindi, Mathematics, English, Social Science and General Knowledge from 1st to 8th standards. In last three years, we have been imparting classes for secondary and senior secondary levels also with aims to motivate and mobilize dropped out children for higher education. We enroll them with NIOS and take all responsibilities from enrolling to results. There was no fee and even books and stationary were distributed to the children free of cost at primary and upper primary level. But secondary and senior secondary levels approx. 70% aspirants are bearing their admission fee and NGO is helping them in other manner. The progress of the centre is evinced from the fact that the number of students are rising steadily as compared to the previous year and it may rise substantially in the coming year necessitating in creating more and more learning centre.

The age and quality has no end to education. Along with the normal, lessons were given in physical and moral education, which were vital in character building. And it had its direct impact. Health had been dealt with earlier. Periodical camps were organized practically and periodically in all the venues covered by SHIVKRUPA BAHUUDDESHIYA SANSTHA Trust during the year. Medical and health checkup were undertaken spread throughout the year. Preventive measures were advised and medicines were distributed wherever necessary after the checkup. Serious and urgent cases were referred to the hospital catering to these territories. Yoga is another source healthy living irrespective of the area one lives in. it was apprised to all in frequent meeting that everyone does some physical exercise in one form or another. Breathing walking etc. were in fact part of Yoga and if practiced regularly every day keeps the disease away. Demonstrations by a Yoga expert were given time and again and looking at the interests of the people, Yoga classes were organized in some of the colonies it also had moral and spiritual impact.

Health and Hygiene

It is universally acclaimed that no human being can survive and prosper unless one takes recourse to hygiene and nutrition in daily routine for a healthy life. The non-hygienic conditions prevailing in the backward slum clusters of our society are the root causes of deteriorating health. There are a number of factors that have to be reckoned with, including nutrition and sanitation. SHIVKRUPA BAHUDESHIYA SANSTHA was deeply concerned and had taken vigorous steps to curb them. Drainage system was improved in slums and backward colonies within the four walls of our territory and the adjoining areas in Delhi. Cleaning and sweeping of lanes was emphasized, the drinking water had to be kept covered so that mosquitoes do not breed.

Delhi faces acute shortage of water and it had to be saved. It was advised to use and store water that was normally consumed every day and do not waste it. It was also advised to adopt rain-water harvesting.

Healthy Food

It is very important that we eat the right balance of fruit and vegetables every day to keep healthy. Food contains vitamins, protein and carbohydrates which all help to keep us fit.

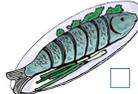

Look at the foods. Put a green tick in the box for those you think are the most healthy.

Medical camps were organized almost every month for health check-up. Besides, Blood Donation and Eye Check-up camps were also organized. Medicines were distributed free of cost and first-aid facilities were also provided. Due and special attention was focused on women, widows and girls by the female counselors and lady doctors. Pregnant women were advised of the precautions and preventive measures they should take and adhere to the advice of the lady doctor, which was in their long lasting interests. Such cases requiring special attention and diagnosis were referred to the nearest hospitals.

Vocational Training

We are striving to bridge this gap by offering IT related training to orphans and underprivileged children through Computer Vocational Training. The main objective of the program was to provide computer training to the orphans and underprivileged with focus on computer literacy. Taking a step forward, we emphasized on creating opportunities for the children to develop technical / vocational skills that will enable them to be self-sufficient and secure more job opportunities.

Different types of vocational training were given as per the requirements of the persons we trained. The type of training we identified for them was based on the market needs and their ability to learn. Our qualified instructors imparted training to the youth – especially young girls and women – in various fields like computer operation, cutting and stitching, beauty culture, arts and crafts, embroidery, office work etc.

The organization believes in giving utmost importance to Programmers' related to women empowerment. Thus in this direction it helps women organize self-help groups and fight the battle against poverty and illiteracy. We believe that to make any welfare or development program a success it is vital that it addresses the real problems of the people at the community level. Systematic efforts have to be made for reducing the economic divide between the rich and the poor. One of the effective ways to achieve results is to enable unemployed and underemployed youth – especially those coming from economically poor and socially marginalized background – to be engaged in gainful occupation.

During the year we concentrated on giving training in tailoring and outfitting to women from weaker and poor families living in slum areas and resettlement colonies. Through these income-generating skills they were able to add extra income to their families' meager income. That also gave them the confidence and the satisfaction of being financially independent. The extra income also gave them the opportunity to educate their children and save some money for their daughters' marriage.

HIV/AIDS Awareness Programme

Awareness HIV/AIDS Awareness Generation Camps on HIV/AIDS:-

During the year under report tan awareness generation camps on HIV/AIDS were organized in village of East Delhi to aware the people about precautionary measures to check the HIV/AIDS effects. More than 1000 people both man and woman participated in these camps. Health's checkup arrangements were also done in these camps.

"It is estimated that by the end of 20th century there were 40 million people infected with HIV all over the world and India has been leading with highest number of cases (ranging from 10-20 million). We may not be infected but will definitely be affected indirectly by it. Hence it is a duty of every citizen of India to have detailed knowledge about this disease".

Due to lack of knowledge about AIDS people have fear in their mind against the victims of this disease. Because of fear of social boycott, AIDS patients and their relatives hide their HIV status. Many doctors (due to fear of getting infection) also refuse to treat these patients. There is danger of AIDS for everybody and only thing that can save us is to be completely informed.
